BYU 'County Fair' Set Friday

DANCERS IMPRESS EUROPEAN JUDGES

In their second experience in competitive dance, the Brigham Young University Folk Dancers placed fourth in field of world groups at Middlesbrough, England.

Over 5,000 dance and music performers from many parts of the world participate in the first annual Tees-side folk.

The dance competition was won by a group from Zagreb, Croatia, with a total of 96 of a possible 100 points. They were given the other finalists were: San Sebastian, 94; Stoke, England, 93; BYU, 92; Koleda, 92; France, 91; and Stoke, England, 90.

According to the judges' rating scale, any score above 90 represented an honors performance. In his final critique of the "U" performance, the chief judge stated:

"THE AMERICAN dancers represented a spillover from those which the American have used with their marvelous zest for giving extra zest to everything that comes, and the square dance with the caller was again inherited from them. They gave a new angle with their lovely gay costumes which they used in an almost flamboyant way.

"Every ancient figure of the Stone Age, the Indian, and a life of a sort by putting on a shaking off the protocols (the Hoop Dance), making himself all sorts of different symbols—an eagle. It was almost a piece of poetry on."

BYU GROUP has now completed about one-third of a three-month tour of 16 European countries. Their tour will be at Brussels, Belgium, where they will make a night performance before proceeding to Schoten, Belgium, to participate in the International Festival there.

BYU will be turned into a country fairgrounds Friday for the first annual summer County Fair.

Combining the old chicken fry and Watermelon Bust the fair will add many new features, according to Kathy Brian, vice president of the social office.

Starting the day will be judging of arts and crafts, food, and clothing in the Wilkinson Center Ballroom. Entries for the home economics part of the fair may be turned in to the Wilkinson Center room 357 between 2 and 5 p.m. Thursday.

MARY JANE JOHNSTON, chairman has announced that the judging will be open to all students. Entries must be accompanied by a 2nd card for each exhibit with the name and the phone number of the owner and a description of the article.

Displayed in the ballroom all day will be the entries with the winners designated by blue ribbons after the 11 a.m. judging.

Categories for the food judging according to Miss Johnston are foods, which will include homemade cakes, pies, and home canned goods; clothing with knitted and sewed goods, and arts and crafts which includes paintings, needlework and ceramics.

RACES will be held at 3 p.m. in the Fieldhouse. Sign-up sheets for the races will be in the Social Office on the fourth floor of the Wilkinson Center.

Other activities of the day will include a watermelon bust at 3:30 p.m. in the stadium, a faculty Basketball game at 4:30 p.m. in the Fieldhouse starring members of the faculty.

AT 4 P.M. the chicken fry will be held in the north parking lot of the fieldhouse. The dinner, which will be free, will include chicken, ice cream, potato salad, root beer, and rolls.

A MOVIE will be shown at 8 p.m. in the fieldhouse, and a square dance will take over the north parking lot of the Fieldhouse at 8:30 p.m.

Continuing from 9:30 to 12:30 will be a dance in the same parking lot, according to Miss Brian.

A HIGH POINT will be the fireworks display at 10:30 from the north parking lot.

Miss Brian said the studentbody is urged to attend all the activities of the day. There will be no admission charge.

MAJ. BERNARD FISHER . . .

War Hero On Campus

Maj. Bernard Francis Fisher, 39, will be on Brigham Young University's campus Wednesday evening for a lecture on United States Viet Nam policy.

He will speak in the Wilkinson Center Ballroom.

AND IN at least one instance, Maj. Fisher should know what he's talking about.

Maj. Fisher, a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, is from Kuna, Ida, and recently brought fame to himself and another Viet Nam pilot in a daring rescue in that Asian land.

A SUMMARY of that episode, with experts from the Saturday Evening Post, follows:

The battle of Ashau Valley began on March 6, 1966 at about 2 a.m. A North Vietnamese mortar attack, followed by an assault, was launched against a Special Forces camp at Ashau.

IN THE Air battle above the ground attack, a lumbering DC-3 that the Air Force used for straling missions crashed, killing three of its occupants.

Maj. Fisher and a co-pilot were sent in an old Skyraider to strafe the area around the downed plane and to lead in rescue helicopters. He succeeded in bringing the aid helicopters to the survivors while at the same time methodically machine-gunning enemy forces.

THE NEXT morning, Maj. Fisher received a telephone call that advised him he was being recommended for the Silver Star.

The recommendation got lost in the events of the day.

He was sent up by his officers that day, again to the battle of Ashau Valley.

DURING GROUND action, South Vietnamese irregulars defected to the V.C. and summarily turned their guns on their former American allies.

As a result, a radio operator on the ground called for Fisher, and three other pilots, to dump their "ordnance"—napalm, etc.—on a position at the south wall of the camp.

SUDDENLY, while making their run, Maj. Dufford (Jump) Myers was hit by what he said was possibly a Chinese thirty-seven millimeter cannon. Under Maj. Fisher's guidance, he belly landed his plane on an enemy air strip and then hustled to a near-by patch of jungle.

Maj. Fisher quickly radioed his control point and asked for helicopter assistance for the downed pilot, who he was sure was badly burned.

THE ANSWER came just as quickly: "Too dangerous. Can not send chopper."

Then, came the decision on Maj. Fisher's part: He would rescue Myers himself.

HE DIRECTED three other Sky-raid-ers to strafe the area for support fire and went in low (the runway was about 2500 feet). He landed his propeller-driven plane among some of the worst concentrated fire power that has even been poured to one spot.

In Maj. Myer's words, "bullets were whining and my shoulder blades were really puckerin'."

MAJ. FISHER landed his A-1E and ran over to where he fought Maj. Myers was.

He contacted him and they both made it back to the plane. All this was under the fire of every North Vietnamese who happened to look in their direction.

BOTH PILOTS got safely off the ground and both made it back to their home base.

For his heroism in rescuing the downed pilot, Maj. Fisher was recommended for the Medal of Honor—the highest decoration in the Viet Nam War.

Maj. Bernard Fisher, who was recommended for Medal of Honor for bravery in air war over Viet Nam, is scheduled to speak on campus Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Wilkinson Center Ballroom. Maj. Fisher is a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Form Gives Accident Aid

Even though the National Safety Council and the local university and community officials warn us of the perils of traffic accidents, we continue to be involved in them.

THE DICTIONARY DEFINES "ACCIDENT" as an unexpected occurrence. No matter how much we know about traffic safety, accidents will happen.

We all should know how to prevent an accident. But the question arises what to do if one does have an accident.

EVERY REPUTABLE AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE COMPANY has a prepared form to help those involved get all the facts about an accident.

Some of the data needed includes the date, time and place of the accident. This information could have a later bearing on the case. Another important factor is the weather and road condition.

NEXT, THE NAME, ADDRESS AND LICENSE NUMBER of the other driver, the name and address of the car's owner, its license plate number and state, and make, model and year of the other car is required. This information should also be furnished on your car to the other driver.

Make sure the names and address of anyone injured in your car, as well as those in the other car, are listed.

IF THERE IS ANY DOUBT as to who had the right of way or who was responsible for the accident, names and addresses of any witnesses are very important. So, too, is the name and badge number of the investigating police officer.

The name of the insurance agent for the owner and driver of the other car should be obtained, if available.

PERHAPS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT PARTS of an accident report form is a diagram showing the position of the vehicles involved—both before and after the accident. Almost every report form has a basic cross-street diagram already printed, and all that is required is to draw in what happened. Usually your car is known as Number One and the other as Number Two.

This diagram, if filled in at the time of the accident, can later be used to settle certain arguments. While most insurance companies advertise "quick payment," difficulties may arise and it could be months before a settlement is reached. In this period of time, the persons involved may forget some of the accident details. Memories can become very hazy. If the other driver was in the wrong and insists that you are the one who committed the wrong, your diagram could very well save the day for you.

Obviously, the best thing to do is avoid having an accident. But if, despite your precautions, you become involved in one, a properly filled-out accident report can save a lot of headaches.

Do you know What to do...

Plans For Fall Orientation

Freshman orientation for 1966-67 will present a new orientation program under the direction of Robert Justis.

ORIENTATION will begin September 12 with a Fieldhouse convocation to which all parents and students will be invited. Steven R. Covey, Administrative Assistant to the President and Director of University Relations will be the speaker.

"We are having this convocation to explain to these students the seriousness of becoming a part of this campus," said Justis. "We want these students to realize the importance of entering the University."

THE OFFICIAL OPENING of the orientation week will be staged as a Fieldhouse pep assembly. Dean J. Elliot Cameron will address the freshmen. The Cougar Pep Committee will then teach them the Cougar Fight Song.

Ducats For Becket To Be Released Today

Tickets for Dr. Lael J. Woodbury's production of Jean Anouilh's Becket, or The Honor of God will be released at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Harris Fine Arts Center box office.

TICKETS may be purchased for $1.50 or are free with an activity card. Tickets for the play, which opens Aug. 3 and plays through Aug. 6 at 8:15 p.m. nightly in the Pardon Drama Theater of the Harris Fine Arts Center, may be picked up from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily.

In his play, Jean Anouilh, the versatile Frenchman with Gallic irony, arrestingly portrays the transformation of a profligate into a saint in his absorbing and distinguished drama of ideas.

MR. ANOUILH's irony is present in a subtle and serious form in this chronicle of the fragile relationship between the primitive-minded Henry, who was King of England, and the introspective intellectual, Thomas Becket, who had been Henry's dearest friend, but became his most implacable enemy when the King's intrigues raised him to the hierarchy of the Church.

Anouilh comments on the vast sweep of church and state making frequent use of opportunities for lurt commentary on the foible of mankind.

SETS DESIGNED by Charles Henson and lavish costumes by Beverly Warner have been molded into a series of visual experiences by Director Woodbury, chairman of the Dramatic Arts Dept., who says he conceives Becket as nothing short of "brilliant, exciting and big hearted with ideas and visual splendor galore."

The drama, fresh from the pages of history, will live on the stages of the Brigham Young University theater as part of the extensive summer program scheduled by the Dramatic Arts Dept.

According to Justis, the freshmen "are going to scream, shout and sing until they raise every one of the 600 windows in the roof of the Fieldhouse."

THE STUDENTS will then divide into Y Groups to learn about BYU standards, privileges, and responsibilities.

That evening the Freshman Orientation Dance will be held. Concerts Impropium will begin the program, and the Pacesetter will furnish the evening's music.

SEPTEMBER 14, freshmen will meet with their advisers, deans, and bishops. They will also complete testing procedures.

Registration will take place on September 15, the films "High Time" and "How Do I Love Thee" will be shown three times that day in the concert Hall of the Harris Fine Arts Center.

ALL STUDENTS are invited to attend the traditional "Who Lights the Y" program he evening following registration. Dr. Reed Bradford will speak to the student body.

Openhouses staged by the Associated Women Students and the Associated Men Students will take place September 16.

SEPTEMBER 17, approximately 4,000 students will hike to the Y and whitewash it. The hike will "build their unity, build their school spirit, and help the freshmen to come to a better appreciation of why we like the Y white," said Justis.

Freshmen will take the orientation test after returning from the Y. "We are proud of this test; we feel it is a highlight of our orientation. We also feel that the results of this test will be used in the future in counseling these new students in troubles they might have in their academic assignments," said Justis.

THE FRESHMAN Talent Night, held September 17 in the Fieldhouse, will be the concluding event for the orientation week.

Berrett, administrator of the Schools System rests in a devotional day that faith in a growth.

A great faith brings understanding and peace from the spirit which is from a basic faith. Berrett pointed out that it is more blessed than Him without seeing well be applied in disbelief today, Dr.

would halt one's own decisions to go his own paths. "It was through his love that God drew the veil for us so we can make our own faith growth," Dr. Berrett remarked.

It was pointed out that those on earth are given much peace and hope through our faith. Those who do not have this faith lack much peace and blunder in despair. "Faith gives us purpose in living," Dr. Berrett said.

Schoenfields Set For Lyceum, Forum

Alice and Eleanor Schoenfield will perform for BYU students and faculty Wednesday evening at a lyceum and again at Thursday's Forum Assembly.

The violin-and-cello duet will perform Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Concert Hall of the Harris Fine Art Center. Thursday the sisters will perform at 10 a.m. in the Ballroom of the Ernest L. Wilkinson Center.

Alice, an accomplished violinist, and Eleanor, equally distinguished as a cellist, have received wide acclaim in recitals, concert series, and radio and television programs. Both artists have toured Europe and America extensively as recitalists and soloists with many major symphony orchestras.

Their artistic collaboration has extended over a period of 15 years, during which time they have given more than 2,000 concerts and broadcasts in Europe and the United States.

The Schoenfields lived in Europe until 1932. Both now make their home in Pasadena, California. They are faculty members at Western State College, Tidwell Arts Foundation and the University of South California.

Eleanor is also a member of the University of Redlands faculty, and Alice is a member of the Occidental College faculty.

'Old-Stars' And 'Old-Nit'-ers Battle In Faculty Hoop Game

The "dream game of the year", an action-packed basketball game beginning Friday at 3 p.m. on the main basketball floor of the field-house has been announced by Roger DuPuis, Chairman of the faculty basketball game.

THE FACULTY basketball game will feature an All-American crew of Dean Cameron, Joseph T. Bentley, Pete Whitbeck, Tom Hudspeth, Blaine Anderson, Ed Morelli, Joe Baluff, and other stars of note, said DuPuis.

The All-'Old-Stars' will battle the pre-war NIT Champions.

"This will definitely be one of the highlights of summer school and something you won't want to miss."

DUPAIS promises the yell leaders, song leaders and flag twirlers will be on hand with cougar yells and songs.

To make sure the game is played fairly, summer school Studentbody President Don McCracken, and Vice President of Student Relations Bob Fletcher will referee the game, he continued.

Ken Briggs, last year's Cosmo will announce the game. The event is free and open to the public.
